HOW TO PLAY

Pai Gow Poker combines the elements of the ancient Chinese game of Pai Gow and the American game of Poker. It is played with a traditional deck of 52 playing cards plus one Joker. The joker is not wild, and may only be used as an Ace, or to complete a Straight, a Flush, or a Straight Flush. Players also have the option to bank bets against all other players. However, the house must bank alternate hands.

RANKING THE HANDS

Value of hands is based on the basic poker rankings. Each player is dealt seven cards which the player arranges to make two hands: a two-card hand and a five-card hand. The five-card hand must be higher-ranking poker hand than two-card hand. (If the two-card hand is a pair of eights, for example, the five-card hand must be at least a Pair of eights or higher.

OBJECT OF THE GAME

The object of Pai Gow Poker is for both of the player's two hands to win. If the player wins one hand but loses the other, that is considered a "push" and neither wins nor loses. When both hands are higher than the dealer or player/banker hand that player will win even money on the amount wagered, less a 5% commission.

PLAY OF THE GAME

A dice cup will be shaken and the total of the dice will determine who will receive the first hand. Each hand is dealt face down. Each player then arranges their cards into a two-card low hand and a five-card high hand, as described in "Ranking The Hands". The dealer does not display their cards until all players have set their hands face down in the designated spaces. Each player's hand is then compared to the dealer's hand.

RULES TO REMEMBER

Once the dealer exposes their cards, players cannot touch their cards.

Players are not permitted to expose their hands or discuss them with other players.

Any player's hand that is set incorrectly automatically loses. Players are responsible for arranging their own hands and should do so with care.

Foul hands are: A) two-card hand higher than five-card hand, B) wrong numbers of cards in hands.

Hands are ranked according to traditional Poker rankings except for Ace, 2, 3, 4, 5 - which is the second highest Straight, or Straight Flush.

5% commission will be taken on all winning bets.
